Period for Reply -- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ueda (6,094,456).

Regarding claim 1, Ueda discloses a coded-data decoding/playback apparatus (Figs. 2, 8-9, 14, 15) comprising:

an image input means (11) for inputting compressed image data;

an image decoding means (12-14) for decoding blocks containing intra-coded data (I picture) which can be independently decoded and which is included in the compressed image data inputted by said image input means in response to placement of said image decoding means in a trick play mode (high speed mode) in which image data is played back at a high speed;

an image storage means (16,17) for storing decoded image data about said blocks decoded by said image decoding means; and an image decoding/playback control means for placing said image decoding means and said image storage means in the trick play mode so as to superimpose (adding) the decoded image data about said blocks on one another (Figs. 8-10), to make said image storage means store the superimposed decoded image data, and to make said image storage means output the decoded image data about said blocks stored in said image storage means at a playback speed which is specified thereby (Fig. 14, column 8, lines 34-65, column 16, line 35 to column 17, line 25).

Regarding 2, Ueda teaches that the blocks containing intra-coded data which can be decoded independently and which is selected and decoded by said image decoding means are macro-blocks each of which is a smallest unit of coding, slices each of which is a smallest unit of resynchronization, or pictures each of which is a unit of image (Fig. 15).

Regarding claim 3, Ueda teaches the coded-data decoding/playback apparatus according to Claim 1, characterized in that said image input means inputs compressed image data which can be accessed at random in a direction opposite to a time direction of a coded stream transmitted (column 16, lines 5-12).

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 4 and 5 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

4. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to HUY T. NGUYEN whose telephone number is (571)272-7378. The examiner can normally be reached on 8:30AM -6:00PM.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Thai Q. Tran can be reached on (571) 272-7382. The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is 571-273-8300.
